James Bogart

Chief Information Officer
IUPAT Industry Pension Fund
Hanover, Maryland

James Bogart is the chief information officer for the IUPAT Industry Pension Fund, a role he has held since 2023. In this capacity, he is responsible for setting and executing a cohesive information systems strategy that supports the fund's operational, administrative and long-term strategic objectives. The focus is on aligning technology, data governance and system modernization with the complex regulatory and operational demands of pension fund administration. Prior to becoming CIO, James served as operations director for the fund, a position he assumed in 2017. In that role, he oversaw core operational functions and worked closely with executive leadership to improve efficiency, internal controls and service delivery. Earlier in his career, James was a department head in the Contributions Department, managing contribution processing, compliance and employer reporting functions. He has been with the IUPAT Industry Pension Fund since 2006, gaining progressive responsibility and deep institutional expertise. James holds a bachelor's degree in economics and a master's degree in applied economics from the University of Maryland.
