Dr. Charles-Philippe David is full professor of political science and president of the Centre for United States Studies, as well as founder of the Raoul Dandurand Chair of Strategic and Diplomatic Studies (which he directed from 1996 to 2016) at l'Université du Québec à Montréal (UQAM). He was elected a Fellow of the Royal Society of Canada in 2001. In 2017-2018, Dr. David was appointed the rotary chair in peace studies at the University of Lille in France. He received the Jean Finot Award of the Institute of France in 2003. In 2012, Dr. David was the first to receive the distinguished George Vanier award from the Royal Military College of Canada for his scholarly contribution to the advancement of strategic and security studies. He received his Ph.D. degree from Princeton University in 1986 (under the supervision of Robert S. Gilpin). From 1985 to 1995, he taught at the former Canadian Military College in Saint-Jean sur Richelieu. Dr. David is a specialist on American foreign policy decision-making, nuclear strategy, security studies, armed conflict and peace missions. He is a frequent television commentator on Radio-Canada on crises, conflicts, security, defense and peacekeeping issues. Dr. David has taught many courses and lectured to a wide variety of audiences in Canada, the U.S. and Europe. He has been visiting professor at a dozen universities in France (Paris, Lyon, Grenoble, Lille, Nice, Montpellier) and the United States (UV, UVA, UCLA, Duke, Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars, Tampa, Georgia Tech). Dr. David is the only Canadian scholar to have been nominated three times as Senior Fulbright Scholar (UCLA, Duke and Norwich).
