Senior Vice President of Growth and Partnerships headversity
Calgary, Alberta

Jason is the senior vice president of growth and partnerships with headversity. He spent the past 14 years at the forefront of the global health-tech, benefits and well-being space with his previous post as the director of international partnerships and strategic alliances within the Virgin Group. Jason is also a MacKay CEO Forum speaker, tech investor, and, in a past life, a professional baseball player. Described as a creative connector, health-tech fanatic, rad dad (of three daughters) and curious George, he's built a career off failing forward and effective collaboration—internally and externally. He lives and works by the following mantras, which have served him well: "You're here, so be here," "Be a student" and "Have fun."
