Connor, Clark & Lunn Infrastructure
Board Member
Connor, Clark & Lunn Financial Group
Toronto, Ontario

Matt O'Brien is President and Managing Director of Connor, Clark & Lunn Infrastructure (CC&L Infrastructure), where he oversees all aspects of the firm's business, strategy and growth. Mr. O'Brien represents the firm on the boards of numerous infrastructure projects and portfolio companies, and sits on the firm's Investment Committee, Management Committee and Responsible Investment Steering Committee.

Mr. O'Brien joined Connor, Clark & Lunn Financial Group Ltd. (CC&L Financial Group) in 2005 to establish and lead its infrastructure and private equity businesses, now known as CC&L Infrastructure and Banyan Capital Partners. Over the last two decades, Mr. O'Brien has built an integrated infrastructure investment and asset management team, overseeing more than 3,300 operating employees across a broad range of infrastructure assets, raised billions of dollars across multiple funds, and assembled a global portfolio valued at over $7.5 billion. Previously, he was a Managing Director in the M&A group at RBC Capital Markets, where he advised on a wide range of US and Canadian public and private transactions valued cumulatively at over $20 billion.

Mr. O'Brien also holds a senior leadership role at Banyan Capital Partners, sitting on its Investment and Management Committees, and is a member of CC&L Financial Group's Board of Directors.

Mr. O'Brien earned a Bachelor of Arts in Economics (with distinction) from McGill University and a Master of Business Administration from the Richard Ivey School of Business at the University of Western Ontario.
