

Nahed Sabri

Director, Alternative Investments
Trans-Canada Capital Inc.
Montréal, Québec

Nahed Sabri is director of alternative investments at Trans-Canada Capital (TCC). She is mainly responsible for the ongoing management, monitoring and research for all TCC's real estate, infrastructure and co-investment portfolios and plays an active role in sourcing, underwriting and selecting investment opportunities for the firm. Additionally, Nahed serves as a voting member on both the External Managers Investment Committee (EMIC) and the Sustainable Investment Committee (SIC), spearheading the firm's ESG initiatives. She has nearly 20 years of alternative investment experience investing in funds, secondaries and co-investments across multiple assets classes: real estate, infrastructure, private equity and hedge funds. Prior to joining TCC in 2015, Nahed worked at one of North America's leading pulp and paper and renewable energy companies, where she played a key role in managing the investment portfolio of the company's pension plan. She holds a bachelor of commerce degree in finance from Concordia University.
