

William A. Sokol, Esq.

Shareholder
Weinberg, Roger & Rosenfeld
Oakland, California

William A. Sokol joined Weinberg, Roger & Rosenfeld (WRR) in 1976. He currently practices primarily in the ERISA and benefits area, representing pension funds, health and welfare funds, and apprenticeship and training funds. William serves as both sole counsel and co-counsel on these funds in a wide array of industries, from engineers to health care workers to teamsters, in both the private and public sectors. William also represents unions in their labor relations with employers and members. He leads informational presentations for internal and external audiences, helping train WRR's newer attorneys while educating broad audiences of workers, union staffers, member leaders, and other advocates for unions and employees nationwide. William also teaches labor law at San Francisco State University in the Labor Studies Department. He has also taught at University of California, Berkeley; the University of San Francisco; Laney College; and the City College of San Francisco, where he has lectured widely on labor law and related topics. William was a talk show host for 25 years on Pacifica Radio and a legal commentator on NPR. He received his undergraduate degree from the University of Wisconsin with Phi Beta Kappa honors. After a year at Yale Law School, William pursued a master's degree in modern American history at the University of California, Berkeley, which he received in 1972. He received his juris doctor degree from the University of California, Berkeley School of Law in 1976. While at Berkeley Law, William was an editor of the Ecology Law Quarterly.