

Sabrina Unger

Managing Director, Research and Strategy
American Realty Advisors
New York, New York

Sabrina Unger, managing director, is the head of research and strategy at American Realty Advisors and is responsible for leading the firm's research initiatives and working closely with the firm's investment and portfolio management teams in developing investment analysis in support of new acquisitions and strategy implementation. Unger is also a member of the firm's Investment Committee. Prior to joining ARA, Unger was a member of the global research team at Invesco Real Estate, charged with developing global portfolio strategies as well as authoring numerous thought leadership papers and contributing to the firm's House View. Before that, she held positions as a member of the research team at Clarion Partners and as a top strategist for a sports entertainment company's real estate divisions. She has been published in leading industry publications, including Real Assets Adviser and the research publications of ANREV (Asian Association for Investors in Non-Listed Real Estate Vehicles), NCREIF (National Council of Real Estate Investment Fiduciaries) and AFIRE (The Association of Foreign Investors in Real Estate). Unger holds a bachelor's degree from Southern Illinois University Carbondale and a master's degree from DePaul University and has completed certificate coursework at both New York University and the London School of Economics.